A vibrant meeting place by the sea

On the east coast, an hour south of Stockholm, Nyköping is one of Sweden's oldest towns. Fall in love with the historic town centre and the rugged, unspoilt beauty of the archipelago. Discover the warm welcome extended to visitors, the lively restaurant scene, and Nyköping's busy calendar of sporting and cultural events.

Throughout history the town has been a hive of human activity. Since the 12th century, people have been gathering here, where the river meets the Baltic, to do business. Nyköping today is a town of many meeting places: the handsome market square, Rosvalla Arena, the waterfront cafés. As the community thrives and expands, Nyköping has been careful to preserve its friendly small-town feel.

Nestled between the sea and the country estates of Sörmland, Nyköping offers something for everyone. Shop for locally grown organic produce straight from the farm. Stroll through the leafy hazel woods that line the riverbanks. Explore the past at Nyköping Castle. Take a hike on Sörmlandsleden, or admire the view from the suspension bridges connecting the islands of the Stendörren nature reserve.

The rest of the world is within easy reach. Stockholm Skavsta international airport is right on the doorstep, and Stockholm and the capital region are just a short distance away. Soon Nyköping will also be a stop on Sweden's first high-speed rail line.

Welcome to a vibrant meeting place by the sea. Welcome to Nyköping.
